

Meet Nasario!

Active, funny, and kind, Nasario is a young man with plenty of energy and heart.

Basketball is a huge part of his life, where he loves challenging others to a friendly 1v1. He also enjoys soccer and football, along with activities like swimming and visiting trampoline parks. Music is another significant interest of his. You'll hear him listening to rap, R&B, or Spanish music. Peso Pluma is his favorite artist, and listening to Spanish music helps him stay connected to his culture. Going out to eat is one of Nasario's favorite ways to bond, and In-N-Out tops his list of favorite spots. He enjoys school because it gives him the chance to spend time with friends and take Spanish class. He's also eager to learn new languages, including French and Japanese. He is not sure what he wants to be just yet, but he is excited for his future! Nasario would benefit from a single mother or two-parent home with no other children or children younger than him that can offer one-on-one attention. He hopes for the chance to be a kid and enjoy the same opportunities as his peers. A family that can provide structure, while also allowing him space to learn from his own decisions and mistakes, would be the best fit. Nasario wants families to know that he loves sports, hopes to join the football team, and likes being outdoors.

Nasario was born in 2010.
