Meet Adaleya!

Addy is a warm, affectionate, and imaginative child who brings joy to those around her with her cheerful smiles and heartfelt hugs.

She has a fun and curious palate, enjoying favorite snacks like In-N-Out grilled cheese and bologna sandwiches with pickles and potato chips—an exciting combo she now proudly shares with her CASA. Addy thrives in the outdoors and enjoys hiking, exploring the mountains and deserts, and playing at the park where she readily engages with other children on the playground. She's eager to try new adventures such as rollerblading and swimming. Her love for stuffed animals and real animals alike reflects her nurturing nature, and her creativity shines through in her love of artistic projects. Addy also enjoys getting her hair styled in braids and dreams of having a "real" manicure with nail polish. At school, Addy thrives when she feels supported and encouraged, especially in creative or handson subjects. She builds friendships easily and enjoys spending time with peers through play and shared activities. Her strengths include her resilience, affectionate nature, and creative spirit. Addy is curious and open to new experiences, and she's looking forward to growing and learning in an environment that supports her development and emotional well-being. Addy would do best in a routine-oriented and structured home environment. She would benefit from a family that is experienced and trauma-informed, and who can offer consistent care and attention. Addy would thrive in either a one or two-parent household and would do well with an older sister or an only child. She would be a wonderful with pets given her love for animals.

Addy was born in 2016.
