Meet Savanna!

Savanna is a playful, compassionate, and adventurous girl who enjoys meeting new people.

In her free time, she loves swimming, visiting water parks, and spending as much time outdoors as possible. Whether she's playing soccer, exploring a local park, creating arts and crafts, baking, or playing card games, Savanna is happiest when she is active and surrounded by others. She also enjoys watching her Disney movies and Christian shows, listening to Christian music, and spending time at church. Her favorite restaurants are McDonald's, Subway, and Cafe Rio, and she loves hamburgers, quesadillas, Oreos, and Takis. Savanna dreams of becoming a chef one day and loves learning new recipes, especially baking with people she cares for.

She enjoys attending school, is very social with her peers, makes friends easily and shows kindness to those around her. One of Savanna's greatest strengths is her caring heart—she enjoys helping others, making sure everyone feels included, and bringing joy.

Savanna would thrive in a stable, active, two-parent home with experienced caregivers who understand the needs of children with trauma and special needs. She benefits from consistent routines while also enjoying opportunities to help create her daily schedule and participate in family activities. Savanna would do best as the youngest child in the home, with any siblings being older than her. She hopes to be part of a family that spends quality time together, enjoys outdoor adventures, regularly attends church, and supports one another through love, faith, and encouragement. More than anything, Savanna is looking for a permanent family where she can feel safe, valued, and truly belong. Savanna was born in 2012.
